AUNT SALLY'S MUFF.

AUNT SALLY, as the villagers usually called her, had received the bulk of her property from a deceased aunt, which her shrewd business qualities had enabled her to invest so advantageously that she increased in wealth as she did in years, and like many other rich people well advanced in life, had scores of affectionate young relatives. Her cold grey eyes were too shrewd not to see through their eager attentions, to the very selfishness of their source.

One nephew however, did not belong to this class of schemers. On the contrary, the old lady was very often the victim of his jokes, and he would dispute with her just for the fun of having a hot argument. Yet, for any real service she would apply to him oftener than to any one else. She had even loaned him a sum sufficient to stock a fine store, but still this Frederick so often annoyed and vexed her that public opinion was pretty equally divided as to whether he would be the favorite heir, or cut off without a shilling.

One evening, upon the meeting of the parish sewing circle at the house of the clergyman this nephew perpetrated a joke upon his aunt, the result of which he never forgot. She, unlike most maiden ladies, considered these gatherings as a sort of fashionable nuisance, but usually was present in order to engage in sarcastic remarks. Her nephew was there ostensibly to wait upon his aunt, but the fair Lucy daughter of the practitioner, Doctor Blood, particularly allured him with her charms.

The evening passed off pleasantly, and when the party broke up, Frederick was taking leave of his friends with his aunt upon one arm and the fair Lucy upon the other, the old lady suddenly remembered that she had left her muff.

"Oh, never mind aunt," said the young man "I will send it up to you in the morning."

"But I do mind, Prof Strong, for it is hot my way to leave things lying about in this manner. But where can it be? I certainly left it with my bonnet and cloak."

Search was immediately made, and after a while it was found stuffed into a deacon's hat.

"Oh, tie upon you aunt! Such a hint and the deacon only a recent widower!" exclaimed her laughing nephew.

Aunt Sally seized her muff, but the hat most affectionately adhered to it. By an angry pull it was liberated, and the unoffending hat flew across the entry projected by the incensed maiden. When it arrived at the terminus of its short journey it had assumed a most questionable shape, and its condition might certainly have been termed "shocking bad."

"I will pay you for this, young man."

"Don't trouble yourself, dear aunt." So far as I am concerned, you are perfectly welcome."

"You will perhaps tell me that you have no hand in the matter?"

"No, I will tell you no falsehood about it; but I intended it as a joke upon our stiff deacon, as much of more than upon yourself."

"At best it is but an ill trick you have played upon me, and now mark my words: You shall have reason to remember this muff to the latest day of your existence."

"As you please, aunt, since you take it so seriously; but I did not think a silly joke would have thus offended you."

Time passed on, and young Strong prospered in his business. He amassed sufficient means to be enabled to repay his aunt the sum she had loaned him, but she declined receiving it, alleging that she preferred to have it remain on interest. In the meantime he had also persuaded the gentle Lucy to share his fortunes. As for Aunt Sally, a singular mania seemed to possess her. In matters of stocks, etc., she had become a perfect chalemist, turning all to gold.

The neighbors looked on and wondered, but none ventured to remonstrate with her. She was often seen to visit the office of Squire A——, and it was rumored that she was making her dual arrangements for the bestowment of her property after her decease. The affair of the muff was not forgotten, and it was current with the good villagers that he would have to pay dearly for his joke.

One morning the village was all in action. During the night the spirit of the redoubtable Sally had taken its flight. She was found dead in her easy chair, and had died as she had lived, alone. She had alarmed no one during the night, nor had she suffered previous illness.—Curiosity, of course was intense on the subject of her will, and it was produced as soon as decency would allow. All her connexions were present, and their eager, hopeful anxious countenancy would have furnished a rare subject for the pencil of an artist. The reading of the will proceeded until it was finished, except a simple codicil. Each of her relatives expected her nephew had been remembered—fame to a greater extent than others, but none considerably.

At all events, not one third of her fortune had been dispensed, and as the codicil only remained, all eyes were turned to Frederick Strong, as the lucky one after all. But what was their surprise when they found it only made him a recipient of her old sable muff and contents. The word "contents" again excited their curiosity, and to satisfy them, the articles was produced, and formally, to accompany a simple paper sewed upon the lining—While detached and opened, in the bold handwriting of Aunt Sally was found there words:

"DEAR NEPHEW:—You will doubtless appreciate this, the last joke I shall ever be guilty of, as I appreciated yours on a certain time you well remember. God bless you and yours. Farewell.

Frederick declared he was satisfied. The old lady had fairly retorted on him, and he certainly deserved nothing better at her hands.

But what had become of Aunt Sally's money? That was a mystery and it became a wonder to the villagers, who discussed it on every occasion. She was known to have large sums of money at various banks, but all this the anxious relatives ascertained was drawn out a few days before her death. Squire A—— was consulted, who had drafted the will, but he stoutly maintained that the will covered the whole of her property, and he would have nothing to do with it.

One evening, about six months after the old lady's death, while Frederick was conversing with his wife, the subject of the muff was introduced.

"That was a costly joke of yours, dear Fred," said his wife gaily.

"But I got the muff at all events, Lucy, and what is better, no one has come forward to claim the three thousand dollars she loaned me. I feel confident she intended to present it to me, and therefore destroyed my note."

"Let us have a look at the old relic, Fred, if the moths have not wholly eaten it up, I will return with it in a moment."

The muff was produced, and as Lucy predicted the lining was wofully moth eaten.

"My dear wife you must look to this, for I prize it dearly on good Aunt Sally's account. I think you had better rip out the lining and renovate the whole with camphor."

Lucy took the scissors and commenced at once upon the task.

"What can the old lady have stuffed it with I wonder? Why Fred, instead of cotton she has wadded it with dirty brown paper."

"Dirty brown paper indeed!" exclaimed her husband, springing from his chair, and catching her hand, as she was about to throw a bunch in the grate. "Why, it is bank notes, or I am dreaming."

The mystery of the word "contents" was now explained. Note after note was drawn out, until more than thirty thousand dollars lay on the table before them. A letter was also found from the aunt, which stated that she always intended him for her heir. His own note also came to light, from which his name had been torn off. The new revelation of course created great excitement among the villagers, but Frederick and his wife kept on the even tenor of their way—respected by all, not for their wealth simply, but for themselves. One evening during last year they open their splendid mansion to all. It is a famous affair for the villagers, and known as the anniversary of Aunt Sally's Muff.

Otis' Lightning Rods.

☞ The only Patent which affords absolute Protection against Lightning, as demonstrated by science and experience.

This Rod has been extensively used thro' the Southern & Western States, West Indies and the Canadas, since 1851; and though it has been struck in hundreds of instances, it has never failed to protect.

The great amount of damage done recently by lightning has called attention, as it should, to the profession of buildings by the use of Lightning Conductors. It is all important that the rod used should be one that will give protection, and in roofing buildings it should be done by one having experience in the business.

Mr. Reed former partner of H. P. M. Kimball, now proprietor of the patent for Penobscot Co., has returned to this city to commence business for the coming season. Having had large experience, he assures the public that all his work of this kind will be done in a thorough, neat, and scientific manner.

☞ Samples of this Rod, and certificates of its merits from many of the most eminent scientific men in the country, may be seen at D. M. HOWARD'S Store, on Exchange street, No 16, and at Dodge's Hotel Harlow st., and at the office of the Penobscot Mutual Fire Insurance Co., Granite Block, East Market Square, Bangor.

THE CRYSTAL OIL LAMP,
For Burning the Crystal Oil,
Combining Economy and Safety!
PATENT RIGHTS
FOR STATES & COUNTIES FOR SALE!
This important invention for producing the cheap of light in the world, is now perfected and offered to the public. Numberless other attempts have been made to produce a cheap light, but were attended with such inherent objections as to destroy their utility and adoption. But the Crystal Oil Lamp, while it is the cheapest, is both safe and agreeable in every position, making a clear, white and brilliant flame, entirely free from smoke or odor. There is no danger from explosion, but is perfectly safe under all circumstances. The oil can be used in any place without fear of soiling the closest garments. The lamps are simply arranged and perfectly controllable by the children and domestics, and so constructed that the light can be varied in a moment from that of one to eighteen or twenty ordinary lamps. While it is free from the disagreeable smell arising from the Kerosene, and the danger attending the use of burning fluid, it is found upon scientific comparison to produce
As much LIGHT for ONE CENT as Kerosene will for Three Cents, or Burning Fluid will for Six Cents.
Thus saving five-sixths of the entire amount now expended, or the price of the lamp in about a month. They are adapted to all situations, making the cheapest and most desirable light for every place—the largest halls or churches as well as private dwellings. The patent on this is for the different States and Counties throughout the Union, with the exclusive sale of the Crystal Oil, is now offered to the public, presenting a rare opportunity for merchants to secure for themselves the monopoly of a trade entirely free from opposition. Facilities are completed for the manufacture of the lamps in Boston, rendering it certain that they will be furnished to the purchasers of rights in any style, at such a cost as will yield an almost incredulous profit. Those rights will be closed off immediately, and the lamps and oil delivered as soon as desired. As no agent will be sent out to any but purchasers of rights, all letters making the request will not be noticed. Communications addressed to the "Crystal Oil Lamp Co," box 6, Merchants Row, will be promptly attended to.

Republican Nomination.

FOR GOVERNOR,

LOT M. MORRILL

The "Harmonious" Democracy.

Although there is not the slightest probability of any manly, persistent and effective opposition to the pro slavery policy of the democratic administration on the part of the anti Lecompton democrats there is now a very bitter war going on among the outs and the ins—the Custom house and the anti Cushing house cliques—and it is a war of so personal a nature that the enmities arising therefrom will rend the party into wider and more irreconcilable dissensions than could arise from any difference upon mere matters of principle. Disagreements upon the slavery policy of the administration can and doubtless will be very easily and speedily settled, by an anti Lecompton protest and a subsequent acquiescence. These matters of principle are matters of sentiment with the democratic leaders—but when you come to the division of the spoils and the workings of the Board of Trade, then there are breakers all round, and the party is quite sure to be wrecked upon some of them. The fight now going on in the State is a very bitter and bloody one, personally. It is after the pattern of the Waldo wars which have arisen from wholesquabbles over the distribution of the spoils and have finally extinguished the party in that county.

The outs of the present administration were the ins of the last administration, and vice versa. The state of things existing is therefore a curious one. The school are now the custom house men, having their spoons deep in Uncle Sam's porridge dish, and who demand, through the Bangor Union and other Cushing house organs an endorsement of the present administration, happen unfortunately to be the very men who were trying to knife poor Pierce and his administration, and who then persistently refused to endorse his policy and his acts—and simply because they were not form shed with government seats. Chief among these were Wyman B S Moor Benj Wiggin John Appleton, D F Lowe and others, who are now in the sunshine of power and favor at Washington. The former Pierce men and office holders now out in the cold are consequently in a mad savage condition of temper, and, while they will attack religiously to the party because they have no chance for plunder anywhere else they are preparing privately to tomahawk their adversaries with out mercy, and each fact on will while inquiring "Art thou in health, my brother?" without hesitation smite under the fifth rib every candidate of the other wing who is in the slightest degree obnoxious to them.

Meantime the war among the organs is vigorous. Our neighbor of the Union who has taken the administration to carry, and who daily bedobbers the President ad nauseum can cheat from the other side in a manner distressing for a brother editor to behold. The last Bath Organ rakes the Bangor concern right and left and that our readers may see the character of the strife which is going on, we extract a paragraph or two.

THE BANGOR UNION. The Saturday number of this paper contains a notice of the Organ in which the sweetness of Free Family temper seems to be required by the nerves of spirit which is required to those who feel that they have a holy lo d to carry and have some doubts of their ability to sustain it. When Old Atlas had the world upon his shoulders he doubtless felt very much as the Union does in raking upon its narrow shoulders the whole weight of Mr Buchanan's administration. The Union denies that the Augusta correspondent to whom we referred last Ex Gov Hubbard in mind in his severe strictures and in a spirit totally unworthy of a gentleman to say nothing of a democrat charges us with malice and falsehood. We do not retort the charge, but say to the young gentleman who claims to control the column of the Union that such impugning of per onal honor and veracity gives one no exalted opinion of the school in which he seems to have had its ed ucation for the honor able profession of an editor.

Our eastern cotemporary actually says that the columns of the Union are controlled by the editor alone and then tells very truly we dare say of his un forgiving master the administration of Franklin Pierce. Our friend must presume very largely upon the credulity of the Maine democracy if he expects them to believe that while the editor of that paper may control its columns as he pleases he does not control the editor. The fact is notorious that the paper was bought up a owned and controlled by Hon Benj Wiggin and other gentlemen whose names we forbear to mention but we choose to do otherwise. We have no sort of doubt that this split among the parties controlling the Union is the spite of Mr Wiggin and we know too, that during the 2d session Mr Wiggin said he would stand up in the Convention ready to denounce the President and prove the in the supporters in the North he had endeavored to nourish abolitionism.

We wish our friend to understand that we recognize no censorship. The important work of the Union has no terrors for us and we regard its edicts and bulls as harmless as the fulminations of the Mormon Prophet.

The Democratic State Convention.

A despatch to our paper yesterday afternoon informed us that Hon Manasseh Smith was renominated at August a, without opposition; that the resolutions re affirm the Cincinnati platform, and endorse the administration up to the hub, Lecompton and all, and moreover express unbounded confidence in Buchanan—denounce the Maine Law and clergymen (of course) and assert that (as our despatch has it) "a severy must be supported by us to give our delegates weight in Congress!

We learn by returned delegates last evening that there was no opposition to the resolutions—not anti-Lecompton men enough to give even a weak squeak against the administration. The anti s said the Convention was to be packed by the Custom house men and the Postmasters, and they seem to have been very successful in doing it—or, what seems more probable to us, the Douglas men intended to evade a direct issue with the administration. The number of delegates to the Convention was about the same as last year.

[From our Correspondent]

AUGUSTA, June 30—2 P M.

The "unterrified" assembled to day in very fair numbers, to place upon the track a nag to be run down this fall—and the whole aspect of the Convention showed that nothing else was expected.

The Convention was organized permanently by the choice of N S Littlefield of Bridgton, as President and the following Vice Presidents—York Daniel Pisbee, Cumberland, Rufus Soule; Lincoln, Hermon Stevens; Oxford, F H Whitman; Androscoggin, Philo Clark, Sagadahoc F W Dearborn, Penobscot Joe W Bacon, Piscataquis, James S Wiley, Hancock, R H Bridgham; Washington, G W Dillaway; Lincoln, A P Burleigh, Franklin, Lemuel Bursley; Kennebec, James Abbot, Somerset, L L Lucas, Waldo, Robert Sargent.

The Administration have the Convention, clear and smooth, and the Douglas wing is decidedly in the cold.

It was voted to choose a committee on resolutions, and then leaving them, it might be some disaffected brother with out the fear of office holders before his eyes who might throw in a some firebrand, they voted that all resolutions be referred to the committee, without debate and then with great magnanimity placed Cary Pike and one or two other shaky Democrats of anti Lecompton proclivities upon the committee that they might have an opportunity to work off the surplus fluous bile in the committee room rather than in the convention.

There is no doubt that Manasseh will be renominated, and that the administration of James Buchanan will be endorsed.

There is no enthusiasm displayed at all, and though the convention are fair in numbers they look very much as the bow did when it was struck by the lightning, and threw off the track into the field, a kettle discourage d.

Among the unfortunate we noticed a very few of the William George Crosby style of the old wings, but they were evidently not high in favor.

THE NICARAGUA ROUTE TO BE RE OPENED.—Private advices from Central America received at New York, while they state that President Martinez refuses positively to ratify the Marcoleari Treaty, by which our government was to have the virtual control of the transit route, also state that the route has positively been conceded by the Nicaraguan government to Cornelius Vanderbilt and associates. Steamers are in readiness at both ends of the route, and it is stated that the transit will be opened in two months.

Meanwhile what is our government going to do about the treaty? We have announcements from Washington every day or two that the administration will insist upon American rights on the Isthmus. What does that mean?

Hon Stephen C Foster, member of Congress from the Sixth District arrived at his home on Wednesday last. He receives as he richly merits, the thanks of his constituents and of the people of the whole State, for his able and manly efforts in defence of our interests which have been so successfully defended by the Republican delegation.

MUSCULAR ACTION OF THE HEART.—The physicians in attendance at the execution of McGee state that the heart beat regularly 11 minutes at 100 and then rapidly decreased, and ceased at the close of the 13th minute. The prisoner was apparently cool when the drop fell, with the exception of these pulsations.

The Republican Congressional Convention for the Sixth (Eastern) District is to be held at Columbia, on Friday the 16th of July—The hunker democratic Convention is to be held at the same place on the 7th.

SWALLOWING NEEDLES. Yesterday morning a little child in this city commenced crying without any apparent cause and kept it up all day till late in the evening when its cries were succeeded by screams. The parent of the child looked into its mouth and discovered near its throat a needle sticking into its tongue. In such a position that it was evident it had come from the stomach. The mother then remembered that a day or two before she had given her workbasket containing a needle book to the child to play with. An examination revealed the fact that the needles were gone. An emetic was given to the child, and it has vomited several needles from its stomach, which may or may not be all. At any rate the child is better to day. This incident should serve as a caution to mothers to keep such things out of their children's way.—Hartford Times.

CONGRESSIONAL CONVENTION. St Louis June 29. The Republicans of the St Louis Congressional District in Convention yesterday nominated Hon P B Fox Jr, for re election to Congress, by acclamation.

Resolutions were adopted re affirming the doctrines of Thomas Jefferson, denouncing the Administration opposing the negro equality, advocating the extinction of slavery in Missouri, and the removal of the niggers from the State.

Three full tickets are now in the field American, Democratic and Republican.

STEAMER TO PILOT THE NIAGARA. St Johns N F June 29. Steamer Porcupine arrived yesterday. She left Bull's Arm to day. She is to Pilot the steamship Niagara into Trinity Bay.

FIRE AT CARMEL. We learned from Conductor Pillsman last evening that the house and stable of Mr A W Tracy, at Carmel, was burned yesterday afternoon and that the mill near by had been on fire, but we presume was saved.

The wind blew great guns yesterday afternoon from the northward, and the city was enveloped in clouds of dust, and of smoke from neighboring fires in the woods. Several alarms of fire too occured but fortunately none of them were well founded. The weather was about twenty degrees colder yesterday and last night, than at corresponding periods for a few days previous.

There is also a club of the same kind in Biddeford.

THE YOUTH OF PORTLAND.—By a recent census of the school children of Portland, the number between the ages of 4 and 21 years appears to be 9 036, being an increase of 389 over last year.

The steamer Rockland, from Rockland to Mount Desert, now touches at Sullivan instead of at Ellsworth. Her other landings are at North Haven, Deer Isle, Sedgwick, Mt Desert, Millbridge, Jonesport, Bar Harbor (Eden).

MAINE DISASTERS.—Schr L L Wadsworth, of Pembroke, from Eastport for Cumberland Bay N S, while becalmed a few miles South of Quoddy Lighthouse, was run into by a large ship, in tow of a steamer, and was cut down to the water's edge. As it remained calm she managed to get into Quoddy Breakwater by the use of oars.

Bark Arcadia, (of Bangor) Pendleton from St Jago 6th inst for Baltimore put into Cumberland harbor 8th inst with loss of the captain and two of the crew.

Sch T R Jones of Machisport, at Salem from Philadelphia was struck by lightning on the 21st inst, and had her mainmast badly shattered.

Advices from Key West to the 21st instant, state that ship Richland, Brown, with steam pump on board, sailed 20th inst for N York. She was leaking 2 feet per hour.

THE DELTA KAPPA EPSILON FRATERNITY.—The Annual Convention will be holden with the Theta Chapter of Bowdoin College on Thursday, Aug 5th, 1858. The oration will be delivered by Hon Anson Burlingame of Mass and the Poem by Hamilton J Dennis, Esq, of Michigan. Delegates are expected from every chapter in the New England and Middle States. Many of the Southern chapters will also be represented.

The building of the new jail at Machias is going on rapidly. Meantime the Republican says that, as about one half of the old jail has been removed to make room for the new, there is hardly sufficient room for the prisoners, with whom it is filled almost to overflowing. In consequence of the weakened condition of the old building, it is deemed necessary to the security of the prisoners that a guard be placed on duty at night, and they are accordingly under close surveillance.

On Thursday night an attempt was made by an outsider to break open the jail for the purpose of releasing prisoners. The man being frightened by the guard, fled, and succeeded in making his escape.

A BEAR STORY.—In defiance of the solstitial heats, our eastern cotemporaries have rashly recommenced the bear business. Have our readers sufficient coolness to venture upon the following yarn from the Machias Republican?

A son of Mr. Day, of Wesley started from home to visit a bear trap, taking with him a musket which was charged with powder and ball, but neglected to take extra ammunition with him. When he had got some distance into the woods, a bear started up in the bushes and came towards him. Being but a mere youth and inexperienced in fighting bears, he hardly knew whether to run or not. The bear come up within twenty feet of the lad and stopped, looking him in the face. He, taking deliberate aim discharged his piece, and the bear fell, severely wounded but not killed.—The boy then went up to him and endeavored to complete the work he had commenced, by punching sticks down his throat. Not being successful in this he started for home to procure his father's assistance. Procuring more ammunition, the two proceeded to the spot where old Bruin lay, and loaded several more balls in his body, but all in vain, as he seem d determined not to die. He was finally dispatched with an axe, though not without making a vigorous resistance. We did not learn his weight, but understand that on as large has got been seen in that vicinity for a long time.

[Purching sticks down a bear's throat must be pleasant amusement for warm weather.]

SUPREME JUDICIAL COURT.—The following opinions in cases pending on the law docket for the eastern district were delivered at the present law term, at Augusta.

WASHINGTON COUNTY.

Charles Perkins vs William Pike and al. Plff nonsuit.
G W Dyer. F A Pike.

PENOBSCOT COUNTY.

Inhabitants of Brewer vs inhabitants of Eddington. Plff nonsuit.

On Tuesday afternoon last week, the engine of the Brunswick train from Portland, struck a loose horse near Humphrey's Crossing and knocked him heels over head. The concussion did not kill him, but as the fellow said to the cow, "he looked so discouraged that it was necessary to knock him on the head."

THE ESCAPED PRISONERS.—About midnight on Sunday night, three of the jail prisoners that escaped from the House of Correction on Sunday were re taken by the police. Two of them were caught in the woods and the other was found in the tall grass of an adjoining field. Those retaken are the colored thieves, and Benj Porter, the forger. The two confidence men were at large last evening, tho the police were on their track. They were seen about five o'clock to come out of Lamb's woods this side of Corlings but seeing they were observed, they retreated again.—Portland Advertiser.

THE OLDEST INHABITANT.—The Portland Argus speaking of Mrs Betsey Parker, of Durham, whose death we noticed yesterday, says that she was born Oct 10, 1745 and died Jun 21, 1858. She was 112 years, 8 months and 11 days old. She was married in 1769, and had been a widow over 60 years. She had always enjoyed remarkable good health and at her decease she went to sleep as usual and passed away without a struggle.

A SMART HEIFER.—Brown's Rural says.—Our old friend Capt James Tarbox of this city has a heifer only 3 years old, of the Hereford stock which gives 38 lbs of milk a day, and the quantity of milk given by her in a single week produced 10½ lbs of butter.

A ROUGH CATCHING COMBINATION.—A Hollock all has taken the office with Simon Walker at the west end of Kenduskeag bridge, and secured the services of Wm Kerr Jerrigan out rogues and fill dangling under their property and in serving all kinds of writs, civil and criminal. Any business entrusted with all or other will be promptly attended to, as one or the other will be found at the office from six in the morning until eleven at night. During one week that these experienced rogue catchers have been together they have arrested two thieves recovered $40 worth of goods stolen in Belfast, $30 worth of tools in Portland, three wolf robes three trunk coats two vests silk dresses caps, shawls, brushes watches, pocket books, bosom-pins, crosses and a cocoa dera lo varity besides. Just give notice of depredations and Walker and Hollock will bring down the perpetrators.—Times.

While at work in a mill at this place on Wednesday last Jan 28, aged 15 years son of Joseph Lambert got caught by the right hand in some of the machinery and had his finger next to the little one taken off close to the hand.—Machias Union.

[We are obliged on account of the crowded state of our columns to abridge the report sent us of the recent Sabbath School Excursion at Oldtown.]

For the Whig and Courier.

SABBATH SCHOOL EXCURSION. On Friday the 18th, a pleasant excursion of the Congregational Sabbath Schools of Oldtown took place, up the Penobscot.

And first we would acknowledge our indebtedness to the proprietors and managers of the new steamer W N Ray for the generous contribution of their services and a free passage to us both ways.

An invitation had been extended to the Sabbath Schools at Pushaw and Tucker District, under the management of Mr H M Codman, and also to the S School at Peekovo, superintended by Mr I Fordham. Teacher of our High School, and we were truly gratified in seeing so many from those schools present to join us. In all we numbered a few less than 200.

At about 10 A M we reached our place of destination, 13 miles above Oldtown on the usually called Olemon one of the most delightful of all the Islands in the Penobscot and proceeding to the highest cleared portion we had a commanding view of the surrounding country, and what was by no means of small moment, a refreshing breeze. A tent or awning was then extended sufficiently large to accommodate the whole company. The tables were soon spread with an abundance of that which was good, and lifting our hearts in gratitude to the Giver of all good, we did eat our meat with gladness and singleness of heart.

This interesting exercise being ended, about an hour was spent in listening to several brief and appropriate addresses interspersed with singing and sentiments read by our Toast master, Mr Daniel Staples of Pushaw.

Addresses were made by the following gentlemen.

H A Stinson, Mr Hart of Holden, Capt. Burgess, D Gotchell, D Staples, J Y Richardson, H M Codman and E Douglass.

The following are some of the toasts.

The Proprietors and Managers of the steamer W N Ray.—Their generous hospitality is equalled only by their wisdom in bestowing it.

The Sabbath School Enterprise.—May it be prospered by the great Head of the Church, until through its instrumentality, as an auxiliary to the other divinely appointed means the whole world shall constitute a school of Christ, and all its people his real friends.

The Teachers and Officers in our Sabbath Schools.—Called by God to the highest and holiest work, may the approving smile of their own consciences and the immediate salvation of those committed to them, be the reward of all their self sacrifice and labor.

The Sabbath Schools here represented.—May their unionist effort and interest on earth, be perpetuated and perfected in Heaven.

The Ladies.—We are this day again reminded of our utter dependance upon them, in that even those gentlemen who have spent half their days in the woods dwelling in tents, were unable without their assistance to erect even one.

A letter was then read from our absent superintendant, James A Purinton.

After the repast, our company separated, some rambling throughout the island admiring its beauty and enjoying its shade, while others treated themselves to a sail. Thus we whiled away the time until the boat returned to take us on board, homeward, whilst of we arrived at 6 P M to review a day of unmingled pleasures, a day to be remembered only with grateful joy.

CALIFORNIA ITEMS. The San Francisco Bulletin describes a remarkable specimen of gold bearing quartz. The boulder in shape bears a striking resemblance to the head of a calf with indentations to represent the eyes, ears and nostrils. It is beset fully covered with veins and splashes of gold on its outer surface. It was originally thrown aside by a miner as a worthless rock, all covered with mud and dirt, but its unusual weight induced him afterwards to examine it. The specimen is worth $4000.

The San Andreas Independent describes a tunnel in Calaveras county, which is 720 feet in length and 130 feet below the surface, upon an ancient river bed, where it is believed there exists a large amount of gold. The tunnel was commenced in September, 1856, and has been continuously worked since that time. Although the entire distance is through solid rock, and during most of the nearly three years prosecution of the work the operators had to contend against a large body of water. The gold is found in that blue lead which characterizes the rich gold bearing districts throughout the State, and a space less than three feet by twelve produced in big chunks one hundred and twenty five ounces, and that was not a tithe of the amount of gold in the dirt.

We are permitted by the writer to publish the following beautiful lines suggested by a sermon preached at St John's (Episcopal) Church, Sunday morning June 20th by Rev R S HOWARD, upon the words "Every man shall bear his own burden."

ALONE!

Our lives may pass in calm or in tumult
Toil or rest, choice or chance
And yet all long, if they be not
Doubts the refrain.—Alone alone
Be as it the circumstances of your life,
Life is full of trials, care,
And such a dreary waste
Alone, alone, never rest.

Alone in pain, in dout, friendship's tear
And love's caressing lay
Tho' in the throng of world, alone
Not one can bear the guilty stay
And we cannot bear to bear
Joy's every cross without a sigh
And trembling, fearing, half in pain
Wrestle as we may.

Alone in grief, for who can share
Grief's deep, deep—the was of dream—
The lost affection—rose be frayed—
Jewels we wear, or sacrificed
A loved one's death, a friend's rest
That comes when every chastisement flies
O! who can sound the heart?
And who will its secret pry?

Alone! yet all and thrilling thought
Thrills of darkness and of gloom
Whether one's heart is too much troubled
Of the world or of home
All at end alone—O! who is strong
While angels suffer at our hour
Earth's fair vainly back we shrink
From its last conquering power and power.

Thank God! there is a better undertone
In our life and a better voice
Takes up the broken lute of joy
And bids us hearken and rejoice
Vocal alone—yet not nay fear
For when the fainting mine spent
The faithful Saviour—WRAPS AND CHEERS
AND CARRY WITH US SUFFERING.
